

This is the 13th instalment of our Home Improvement series in which we put various options under the microscope so that you can make informed choices about the projects you tackle.

